X x Numb. 1137.

The Daily Courant.

Wedneſday, December 5 1705.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 4.

Placentia, November 11.

THIS advis'd from Cadix, that one of the largeſt Galleons call'd the St. Ann, which lay within the Puntals, is accidentally burnt; And that the Loſs is computed at 100000 Pieces of Eight: Theſe Letters add, News was come from Ceuta, that the Moors having receiv'd a Reinforcement of 3000 Men, were making Preparations to give a general Aſſault; for which purpoſe they had got together a great Number of Bags of Earth, Faſcines, &c.

Perpignan, Nov. 21. Roſes is ſupplied with Ammunition and Proviſions for 4 Months. The Cloaths, Arms, and Recruits that were to go to the French Troops in Eſtramadura, are ſtop'd at Bayone, becauſe thoſe Troops are marching towards Arragon. So thoſe Recruits, &c. are to joyn them where they ſhall be order'd. We have Advice, that the Archduke has given out Commiſſions for levying 6 Regiments of Foot, and 3 of Horſe; of which the principal Perſons of Barceloua that are of his Party are nominated to be Colonels. That Prince demands likewiſe that the Regiment of the Ciudad de la Deputation of 1000 Horſe, and the Regiment of the Province of 3000 Foot, be rais'd. The Enemy are ſtoring large Magazines, and find Plenty of Proviſions, The Baron de Beck and the Biſhop of Gironne, are here, and receive the ſame Salaries they had in Spain, with which they maintain ſome Catalonians that follow'd them.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 1.

Trent, November 15. The 2 Battallions of Hildeſheim are paſs'd through this Place, with a great number of Recruits for Italy: We expect more Troops this Week; the Regiment of Dragoons of Caſtel has already enter'd into this Territory. The Pruſſian Horſe is expected here ſhortly from Italy; 'tis ſaid their room will be ſupplied by ſome Battallions of that Nation.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 4.

Trent, November 17. Beſides the Recruits that continue to paſs through this Country for the Imperial Army, moſt of the ſick and wounded that were ſent hither to be cur'd, are gone back to their Regiments; the good Air having greatly contributed to their ſpeedy Recovery. Half the Regiment of Caſtelli, compos'd of pick'd Men well mounted, paſs'd through this City Yeſterday to go to the Imperial Army; and the reſt are expected to Day. Several Imperial Regiments of Foot are coming after them.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 4.

Letters from the Frontiers of Savoy dated the 26th of October, import, that ſome of the Duke of Savoy's Troops have begun to fortify themſelves in the Caſtle of Ivoire ſituate on the ſide of the Lake Leman, ſo that they will ſoon be in a Condition to maintain themſelves in the Chablais; and if the Troops that block up Montmeillan march that way to expel them, that Fort will be ſupplied with Proviſions while thoſe Troops are abſent. The 25th of October Deputies ſet out from Geneva for Arau, there to confer with the Deputies of the Cantons of Zurich and Berne, upon the Complaints made by the Ambaſſador of France about the late Siezure and carrying off 25000 Louis d' Or (that was ſent from Geneva to the French Army in Italy,) by a Party of Savoyards, tho' it was done on the Territories of France. The 24th the Reſident of Venice arriv'd at Berne, to deſire an Explanation of 2 Articles of the Treaty made between the Canons of Zurich and Berne and the Republick, before it be ratified.

From the Amſterdam Gazette, dated December 1.

Turin, October 28. The Governour of Villafranca, after having deſir'd a Prolongation of the Truce between that Place and the Caſtle of Nice for 6 Months, and after the Agreement was actually ſign'd, ſent Word to the Marquis de Carail Governour of Nice, that the King his Maſter would not abide by that Agreement, and that he had order'd the Caſtle to be attack'd within 10 Days. The Enemy in their March to Aſti, loſt ſeveral Soldiers, in paſſing the Rivers ſwell'd extraordinarily by the Rains: Particularly we have an Account, that 3 Barks which had on board 4 Companies of Granadiers ſunk, and all the Soldiers in them were Drown'd.

From the Paris Gazette, dated November 28.

From the Camp before Nice, November 14. The Duke of Berwick arriv'd here the 7th of this Month with part of the Troops, but the overflowing of the Var hinder'd the paſſing of the reſt of the Army, and a contrary Wind retarded the Arrival of the Ships with the Artillery, Ammunition, and Proviſions. But on the 9th thoſe Ships came into the Port of Villa-franca, and the reſt of the Troops have been brought over the River by Boats. The 11th the Enemy began to make a great Fire with their Cannon and Muskets, and were anſwer'd from a Battery of 4 Guns rais'd near the Fort of Montalban, which is ſituate on a riſing Ground that commands the Town and Caſtle. This Morning the Batteries of Cannon and Mortars being finiſh'd, the Duke of Berwick caus'd the Place to be ſummon'd to ſurrender: The Marquis de Carail who commands in it demanded that we ſhould not attack the Caſtle from the Town, and other Conditions, which were refus'd him; whereupon he is retir'd into the Caſtle with his Garriſon, and the King's Troops have enter'd the Town.

From the Paris Gazette, dated December 5.

From the Camp before Nice, November 21. The bad Weather has retarded the Arrival of the Artillery, Ammunition, and Proviſions: But 'tis fair now, and the laſt Convoy we expected arriv'd Yeſterday. In the mean time the Duke of Berwick caus'd a Battery of 20 Connon to be rais'd on the Eminence of St. Charles, and below it a Battery of Mortars which has fir'd ſeveral Days. A pretty many Deſerters are come out to us and report, That the Garriſon conſiſts of 1500 Men, that the Bombs do great Miſchief in the Place, and have deſtroy'd a Magazine. The Night between the 17th and 18th the Trenches were open'd, and carried on 130 Fathom: The Beſieged ſally'd in ſeveral ſmall Parties to diſturb our Workmen; but the Troops appointed to ſupport them diſcovering the Enemy, advanc'd to cut them off, which oblig'd them to retire ſpeedily into the Place. The 4 Mortars that were plac'd near Fort Montalban, are to be remov'd to the Glacis of Nice. Alſo a Battery of 40 pieces of Cannon is begun below the Hill of Montlaban; but 'tis thought it cannot be finiſh'd before the end of the Month, becauſe the Ground is hard to work on.

From the Harlem and Amſterdam Courants.

Saltsburg, November 16. Yeſterday Morning at 6 a Clock a Glover of Burghauſen let in 800 Bavarian Peaſants at a Gate of that Town; they immediately made themſelves Maſters of another Gate; but 100 Men of the Garriſon charging them, kill'd 20 of them and made the reſt retire into a Church, where being joyn'd by 80 Students, they defended themſelves till 2 in the Afternoon, when 300 of them being taken and many kill'd the reſt were driven out of the Town.

Saltsburg, Nov. 19. The 17th the Peaſants came agen before Burghauſen, having encreaſed their Number to 4000: The Townſmen cutting off the Retreat of the Garriſon to the Caſtle, they were forc'd to ſurrender: The ſaid Garriſon were oblig'd to lay down their Arms, and were conducted to Duttingen. Burghauſen is garriſon'd with 1500 Peaſants; the reſt of them are march'd to Braunau which is cloſely block'd up.

Ratisbon, November 23. The Bavarian Rebels grow daily more numerous, and threaten this Place. We have Advice that they have block'd up Braunau ſo cloſe, that the Garriſon which is but weak cannot get Proviſions into the Place: 'Tis reported they have poſſeſs'd themſelves of Waſſerburg, but we ſuſpend our Belief of it. The Governour of Straubing arm'd the Burghers, that they might aſſiſt him in defending the Place; but being inform'd they held ſecret Intelligence with the revolted Peaſants, he diſarm'd them agen. There are a great many disbanded Soldiers among thoſe Peaſants. They ſay their Elector will be with them before New Year's-day; and they plunder all the Places they take, notwithſtanding they are inhabited by Bavarians, that they may excite the whole Country to joyn in a general Revolt to ſave their Goods.

From the Danube, November 25. 15000 Bavarian Peaſants are reported to be before Braunau; and to have General Lutzeburg with them. The 23d 1500 Peaſants came upon the Capuchins Hill before Waſſerburg; of which Collonel Went being inform'd, he paſs'd the Inn at Kneyberg, and attack'd them in the Rear, at the ſame time the Garriſon of Waſſerburg made a Sally; the Peaſants fought 2 Hours, but were defeated, 400 of them being kill'd and as many taken Priſoners. This done, Collonel Went march'd to attempt the Relief of Braunau.

From the Danube, November 30. Collonel Went is on the march to attack the Rebels that lye before Braunau. P. S. That Collonel has defeated a Body of Rebels near Oettingen, killing 200 of them, and taking a greater number.

Ratisbon, November 30. The revolted Peaſants of Bavaria are ſaid to be encreas'd to 20000 Men; and have among them many disbanded Soldiers and Deſerters, as alſo ſeveral Officers of divers Nations, who animate them by aſſuring them the Elector will ſend them ſpeedy Succours. 'Tis ſaid Braunau has ſurrendred to them for want of Proviſions; and that they have divided themſelves into 2 Bodies, one of which is march'd towards Scharding wherein are 400 Men, but there are no Fortifications for their Defence; and the other is march'd to obſerve Colonel Went, and give him Battle, if a fair Opportunity preſent. The Troops that are to Quarter this Winter in Bavaria, being on their March thither, 'tis hop'd this Inſurrection will ſoon be quell'd.
